

Haslers shortlisted for industry awards

HASLERS
chartered accountants & business advisers

THE hard work and endeavours of Loughton-based chartered accountancy firm Haslers was recently acknowledged having been named as a double finalist in a prestigious awards scheme.

Shortlisted for the Accountancy Firm of the Year and Training Firm of the Year titles in the ICAEW (Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales) Essex Accountancy and Business Awards, Haslers were deservedly recognised amongst the best in their profession.

Commenting on the nomination success, Haslers Chairman Laurence Jacobs added, "We are delighted that we have been recognised for our development over the past year and the introduction of new services, such as our business growth programme Go4Growth.

Judges have also been impressed with how we understand the importance of taking on high qualities trainees and investing in our training programme and post-qualification development."

Architects' design earns plaudits

Buckhurst Hill based architects practice, The Tooley & Foster Partnership secured a worthy double at the recent RICS East of England Awards 2014.

As the world's leading body of land, property and construction professionals, the RICS are dedicated to ensuring that building development and management is delivered to the highest standard.

The prestigious West Essex firm wowed the judges to secure both the Design Through Innovation Award and Project of the Year, thanks to their design of Saffron Walden County High School's brand new £9.3 million state-of-the-art Saffron Hall auditorium.

The lauded design offers world class facilities for professional, amateur and young performers, as well as school, community and national audiences, which are the envy of most in both the state and private education system.

The Palmerston Road practice now eagerly await the RICS Awards Grand Final taking place in October at The Savoy Hotel in London.
